

Why did Aegon set up The Center for Longevity and Retirement?

In May 2015, Aegon announced the launch of the Aegon Center for Longevity and Retirement (The Center) to demonstrate its commitment to retirement research and reinforce its purpose of helping people take greater levels of personal responsibility for their long-term financial security.

“Since 2012, Aegon has been publishing studies and offering insights on the retirement preparedness of individuals and families around the world. Today, we are pleased to announce the launch of Aegon Center for Longevity and Retirement to expand our efforts and reach a broader audience on this important topic of global concern,”

Marc van Weede, Aegon's Global Head of Strategy and Sustainability and Executive Sponsor of The Center.

Our Mission and Who We Are

Our Mission

The Aegon Center for Longevity and Retirement's has been established to conduct research, educate the public, and lead a global dialogue on trends, issues, and opportunities surrounding longevity, population aging, and retirement security.

Who We Are

We are a collaboration of experts from Aegon's businesses in Europe, the Americas and Asia as well as third-party experts.

Our Partners in Research

The Center is based in The Hague in The Netherlands and collaborates closely with Transamerica Institute, which has been conducting research on retirement, health and aging in the United States for more than a decade.

We also have relationships with respected partners in the field of longevity and retirement, such as the Leyden Academy for Vitality and Ageing and the Global Coalition on Aging.

We will also seek opportunities to work with other renowned academics in the field of aging, demographic change and retirement in order to strengthen its research and identify new uses for its data.
