

New York Stock Exchange Listing Standards

As a company listed on the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”), Aegon Ltd. (“Aegon”) is required to disclose the significant ways in which Aegon’s corporate governance practices differ from those required by US companies under NYSE listing standards.

NYSE listing standards generally require that a listed U.S. company obtain prior shareholder approval for certain issuances of shares (including, among others, issuing 20% or more of outstanding shares or voting power), or the adoption of, and material revisions to, equity compensation plans.

The board of directors of Aegon (the “Board”) is authorized to issue Aegon shares for a nominal amount of less than 10% of Aegon’s issued share capital. Any issuance of Aegon shares for a nominal amount of 10% or more of Aegon’s issued share capital requires the approval of Aegon’s shareholders, unless (i) the Board determines that the issuance of Aegon shares is necessary or conducive for purposes of safeguarding, conserving or strengthening the capital position of Aegon or (ii) such Aegon shares are issued to a person exercising a previously granted right to subscribe for shares, in which case Aegon shares may be issued up to the amount of the authorized share capital. The Board can also approve the adoption of equity compensation plans or material revisions thereof without shareholder prior approval.
